To Attain Your ASHA Certification

1. Complete academic coursework and supervised clinical practicum for audiology or speech-language pathology as stated in the "Standards for the Certificate of Clinical Competence."

2. Receive your graduate degree.

3. Complete the application for membership and certification in black ink. Obtain the signature of your graduate program director in the appropriate areas. The program director’s signature will verify that you have met coursework and practicum requirements for certification.

4. Submit the application to the ASHA National Office along with the required dues/fees.

5. Arrange to have an official copy of your graduate transcript sent to the Certification Administration Section of the ASHA National Office. The transcript must indicate the graduate degree and the date it was awarded.

6. Register for the Praxis examination in audiology or speech-language pathology and list ASHA as a score recipient. If you have already taken and passed the exam, request that ETS send a copy of your score to ASHA. Only scores received directly from ETS will be accepted for certification. Additionally, please note that the score you submit for certification must have been taken no more than 5 years prior to receipt of your ASHA certification application. For more information about the exam, visit ASHA's Praxis Web pages.

7. Begin the Clinical Fellowship (CF) experience under the supervision of an ASHA certified supervisor. Prior to beginning the CF, verify your supervisor’s current ASHA certification status by contacting the ASHA Action Center. Your supervisor must maintain his or her certification status throughout the CF in order for all of the experience to be accepted.
8. As you begin the CF, review with your supervisor the CF requirements and skills on which you will be evaluated during the CF experience.

9. Contact your state licensing agency to determine their requirements for persons completing the clinical fellowship experience.

10. At the completion of the CF experience, submit the required Clinical Fellowship Report and Rating form signed by both you and your CF supervisor.
