

Amy Elizabeth Everett Award Program, 2011

Alexander Caviedes, Political Science

This award will support Dr. Caviedes' research and his participation in the annual American Political Science Association meeting held in Seattle this fall. He will be presenting his paper, "Immigration Politics in Italy and the UK: The Influence of the Media." "The possibility to present my work to leaders of the field in media and politics will allow me to strengthen the methodological approaches related to my analysis, hopefully pushing the project toward the other ultimate objective of this project: eventual publication in a scholarly journal."
