

Resources in Music

The Liaison for your Department is:

Kevin Michki

Kevin.Michki@fredonia.edu
673-3117

Reed Library's website is available to you 24/7 from anywhere on or off campus.

Visit the library's website at:
<http://www.fredonia.edu/library/>

Download the library toolbar to access research tools directly from your browser.

Databases available for Music include:

EbscoHost Databases

The Music Index: look for articles in over 800 international journals. Coverage is 1975 to the present

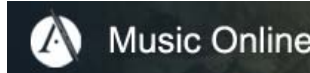

RILM Abstracts of Music

Literature: search for peer-reviewed articles in over 500 international scholarly journals. Indexes material from 1967 to the present the gateway to Grove Music Online, The Oxford Dictionary of Music, The Oxford Companion to Music, and the Encyclopedia of Popular Music.

Oxford Music Online

Alexander Street Music Databases

Classical Music Library, African American Music Reference, American Song, Classical Music Reference Library, Classical Scores Library, Contemporary World Music, Garland Encyclopedia of World Music Online, Jazz Music Library, and Smithsonian Global Sound.

Naxos Music Library

streaming audio for over 34,000 compact discs from a wide variety of labels

DRAM - a scholarly resource of recordings, including CD quality audio, liner notes and essays from New World, Composers Recordings, and other important labels.

Using InterLibrary Loan

Use InterLibrary Loan services to acquire materials that are not available at Reed Library or full text online. The library often can get electronic materials in 2 days or less and books in 3-5 days. To learn more about InterLibrary Loan, go to:

<http://www.fredonia.edu/library/ILL.asp>

For more information on services available to faculty from the library

Visit the faculty services page at: http://www.fredonia.edu/library/faculty_services.asp or contact your library liaison.

Requesting Reserve Materials:

Request Electronic Research Materials for your Course. Fill out the request form on the library's website. Drop off or give a citation for the materials to be scanned, and Reed Library Staff will add the reserve readings to your course. For more information and guidelines on what types of materials can be placed on reserve can be found at: http://www.fredonia.edu/library/reserver_policies.asp.

Instruction on the use of library databases and research tools

The Reference and Instruction staff are available to you to provide guidance on the use of library online databases or to give you better insight on the services and materials available for your research and for your classes. To find a complete list of instruction services, go to: <http://www.fredonia.edu/library/reference/refservices.asp>

Add a library "nugget" for your ANGEL course.

The nuggets, available under the resources tab for your course, gives your students access to research guides for your topic, the ability to search recommended databases for their topic, as well as linking them to 24/7 Chat with a librarian to help them with their research.