

A new Master's degree offered at the State University of New York at Fredonia!

M.A. in Language & Learning

You Choose Your Area of Specialization from the Following: TESOL,
Bilingualism/Multilingualism, or Heritage Languages

TESOL

Do you want to teach English outside the United States? Or to people in a non-K-12 setting, such as adults?

How can we teach English as an additional language, even in countries where English is not the dominant language?

Bilingualism / Multilingualism

Do you want to study the complex nature of bilingualism and schooling?

How can we help schools be a reflection of our multilingual society?

Heritage Languages

Do you want to work with people, communities, or schools in learning & teaching their heritage language?

How can we revitalize or maintain heritage languages – indigenous languages in particular?

If these questions interest you, you may have found your field of study! Prepare yourself to teach, administrate, or simply be more knowledgeable about these topics while acquiring a graduate degree. Apply today!

For more detailed information about entrance and program requirements, please contact Dr. Karen Lillie (karen.lillie@fredonia.edu) or Dr. Sovicheth Boun (sovicheth.boun@fredonia.edu)
<http://www.fredonia.edu/coe>