

The Future of Inclusion: Students Discuss the Summer of 2020 and Campus Culture

Friday, Sept. 11, 2020
4:00 – 5:30 p.m.

The goal of this virtual discussion is to provide a space for SUNY Fredonia students of color to share with one another, and the larger Fredonia community, how they have been emotionally and psychologically impacted by COVID-19, by the recent incidents of racialized violence in the U.S., and by the subsequent civil unrest that has followed. This program will also be an opportunity for new and returning students of color to discuss their experiences minority students at SUNY Fredonia, especially amidst the recent turmoil. In addition to student participants discussing their experiences and ways that they have been coping, two Fredonia counselors will offer strategies that underrepresented students can use to navigate the Fall semester.
